ALMA MATER

Wauconda High, thy name we praise, your loyal sons and daughters,
Where we march on with noble thoughts and cheer our Alma Mater,
Then salute with us our purple and gold while we our colors proud unfold,
And join us in our battle cry, Alma Mater Forever, old Wauconda High.

The English program consists of a four year course of study—English I, II, and III, required, with English IV an elective course.

Writing and reading are the basic elements of the English Curriculum. The program is designed to foster acceptable skills in students' written expression through the study of grammar and the organization of thoughts and ideas in written paragraphs and themes. The reading program is directed toward fostering in the student a greater appreciation and understanding of literature.

Science

"Assimilation of some of the invigorating ideas of modern mathematical thought will be found as refreshing as a drink of cold water on a hot day, and as inspiring as any art."

The Purpose of education is to change the ways in which people think, feel, and act. It modifies behavior. Science is therefore taught so that it will become a way of living, of reacting to our environment, of interpreting the world in which we live

Why Languages in High School?

This is an age-old question which may be always answered with a few pertinent illustrations. Latin is surely not "dead" as so many think, because it "lives in our own language."

"E Pluribus Unum" is the Latin inscription found on every coin which we use that expresses the motto of our America--"One out of many." The motto of the Marines--"Semper Fidelis" and other mottos give evidence that Latin is expressive of feelings and emotions in a way different from our own language.

There is not a science studied in high school that does not reach out to the Latin language for terms and words.

A new addition to the courses offered is French. This language, even more basically than English, is a child of Latin, and many of the words in English which have Latin roots have come to us via the French.

Lanquages?

There are many reasons for studying French. One rather contemporary reason is that now travel aboard is possible to people of modest income. French, to diplomatic tongue, is the key to a vast quantity of literature.

Many French phrases have become so well-accepted that they are now a part of our English language. A few of these are: "a la carte," "nom de plume," "chic," and many others.

There is an oft quoted Latin saying which to me spells the real asset of knowing and studying a foreign language. It states "Labor Omnia Vincit." "Work Conquers Everything," and that is just what a thorough knowledge of these foreign languages accomplishes.

Mr. Petersen finds that a little water goes a long way at the Latin Banquet.

Janet Torgeson giving speech

Speech is simply the art of cummunicating ideas between people. You say that we speak every day, and we normally do. But how effective is our speaking? Many people fail to reach their potential effectiveness in speaking through failure to grasp the fundamental mechanics of public speaking. The contributions of posture, voice, gestures and the opportunities to speak before live audiences, all are blended together in this course to provide every individual with poise, confidence, and assurance necessary to be an effective speaker whenever the occasion presents itself.

Business Education

Business Education is not an independent department within the school, rather it is an integral part of the total educational program. It is specialized, in that courses offered contribute toward building an understanding and appreciation of the functions of business. Simultaneously the department offers training in and the subsequent development of the skills, abilities, and other competencies essential for office occupations.

Students in the department have developed the skills of typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, and office procedures and practices, while others have pursued these courses for its general educational value. The needs and interests of both groups clearly establishes why we have a Business Education department at Wauconda.

The Wauconda High School Band, an organization of sixty-two players, has continued to grow and improve during the last several years. At the present the band has a complete instrumentation including the more unusual instruments such as the bassoon and oboe. The band members take pride in their group and strive for a high standard of musical performance. The band officers are: Neville Carr, President; Cathy Broughton, Vice-President; Janice Wasilkowski, Secretary; Gifford Foulke, Director's Assistant; and Deanna Wiemuth, Drum Major.

The vocal music program provides an opportunity for the student to appreciate and sing good music. Singing frees the individual, and transports him to a colorful world of his own creation. Learning the value of doing something in cooperation with one's fellow students is fostered by singing in the choruses. It is the aim of the vocal music program to send girls and boys out of school educated only in music, but through music-to become a generation more self-restrained, mentally alert and spiritually minded.

Included in the vocal program of Wauconda High School are the Girls' Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus. Frequent assembly programs and public concerts are presented by these vocal groups. The highlights of the presentations given are the Christmas Pageant, and the Spring Concert.

The Girls Athletic Association is an organization which promotes good sportsmanship and interest in sports. The sports the girls participate in are field hockey, tennis, basketball, bowling, baseball, and volleyball. G.A.A. also sponsors many social activities such as fashion shows, dances, Mother-Daughter Banquet, Dad's Night, and playdays. By working together under the leadership of Miss Galloway, G.A.A. girls develop into good citizens and outstanding leaders.

Providing a well rounded diet at school are cooks who plan, prepare, and serve several varied menus to the students and teachers who eat during the three lunch periods.

The custodians, who may be seen inside and out the school at any time throughout the day, are always busy moving chairs and bleachers for various programs, caring for the school grounds, cleaning, and other general maintenance work. Because of their efforts, the school building was run smoothly.

The Bulldogs of 1958 were coached by Harry Ewing and John Callahan. The boys although short in number, gave many fans something to cheer about. They took their first conference game by beating Antioch. Injuries and breaks made the rest of the season a little less fruitful. However, the Bulldogs were in five games which were decided by one touchdown.

The starting line-up consisted of Bill Kazimour and Marty Anderson at the ends. Chuck DeNovo and Willi Koenemann (one of the Co-Captains) were the tackles. Gary Derer and Terry Waters were the guards and John Holm manned the center position. Wauconda had speed in its halfbacks—Phil Winterroth and Jim Longfield. At fullback, Roy Nord (the other Co-Captain), played when he wasn't out with an injury. Jack Hasdal was the Bulldog quarterback. Phil Winterroth was named the MOST VALUABLE PLAYER and Jack Hasdal the MOST IMPROVED PLAYER.

The Frosh-Soph, under the able guidance of Tom Gallivan and Sam Renno, finished with a 2 and 6 record. The performance of this year's Sophomores indicates better things in the future on the grid.

Congratulations, Boys!

The 1958-1959 Wrestling season set sports history at Wauconda High School this year. Winning the Conference Championship was wonderful, but having the best record of all wrestling teams in Lake County (15-2-10), and progressing very strongly to the State Districts topped it off.

Wauconda's winning score at the Conference Wrestling Meet at Warren was 95. The 50 points won at the District Conference Meet put them in third place.

Everyone at Wauconda should be proud of their fine wrestling team's achievements, both in winning and in good sportsmanship.

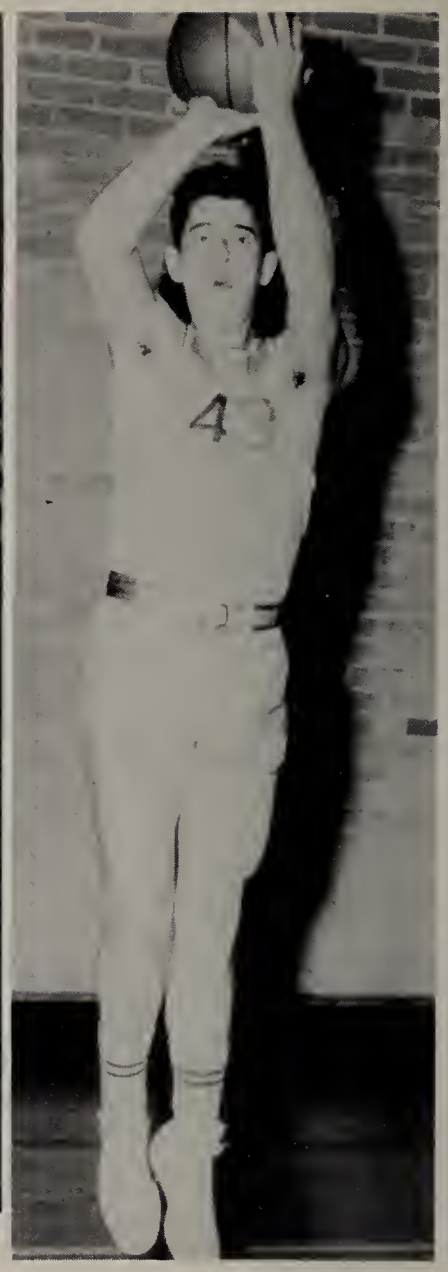
It's a rough one!

Where did the ball go?



Did he make it-or not?

Coach John Callahan used Steve Hubbard, Bill Kazimour, and Jack Wasilas to start all the games. The other two positions were alternated between Phil Winterroth, Jack Cook, Max Lucas, and Al Berger. The other players on the team were Dennis O'Meara, Roland Green, Farrell Waites, Jerry Bundy, Gary Vasey, and Ken Crane.

The frosh-soph team did a job this year, tying for second place in the Conference. The starting five were Joe Coombs, Wayne Huff, Larry Taylor, Chuck Sauer, and Gary LeLito.

The basketball season at Wauconda this year was earmarked by a fine team spirit which lasted throughout the seasons.
